Whether you are looking for a proactive wellbeing solution, on-demand access to mental health support, physiotherapy, private GP, or occupational health services, we have the right solution for you and your employees. Our range of wellbeing solutions deliver a proactive, preventative and personal service built around your business needs. We can help you:

- Reduce workplace absence and stress - empowering your employees to better look after their own health and wellbeing means they'll be better equipped to deal with any challenges they face at work
- Increase employee engagement – employees who feel valued and better cared for make for a happier, healthier, and more productive workforce
- Attract and retain the best talent – demonstrating a commitment in employee health and wellbeing will help you build a positive workplace culture, encouraging loyalty and marking you out as an employer of choice.

Verve On-demand

We provide employees structured access to on-demand mental health support, physiotherapy sessions or private GP. This allows your employees receive the correct support from the right clinician when they need it.

Mental health support

The impact of mental health problems in the workplace continues to rise, and businesses are under increasing pressure to ensure that employees are supported and engage with their mental health.

We provide your employees with mental health support when they need it most. Offering online consultations through our digital platform we provide employees guidance on remaining resilient to offering help and support for all types of stress and anxiety.

Physiotherapy

Our physiotherapists can help your employees restore movement and function when they have been affected by injury, illness or disability. They can also help to reduce their risk of injury or illness in the future. Our physiotherapy services can assist employees in staying in work or returning to work.

We provide remote access to a clinician at a time and in a location that works best for your employee. Our physiotherapists can provide support and self-management tools for some of the most common concerns such as back pain, neck pain, shoulder pain and sports injuries.

Private GP

Our GP service provides your employees with access to a GP whenever and wherever they need it. This means common presenting conditions are not left unchecked and employees receive early intervention for their health concerns.

Designed to fit around the changing work environment, we can provide an onsite service in your workplace or an online service to support your employees whether they are at home, at work or travelling.

Verve Proactive

A flexible and modular preventative and proactive wellbeing solution for your business.

We look at Employee Assistance Programmes slightly differently. Instead of waiting until an employee is unwell, we take a proactive and preventative approach. Our clinical tool can predict and identify those people at risk of a manageable condition so we can intervene early before an employee requires a clinical intervention and time off sick. We call it proactive wellbeing.

How does Verve Proactive work?

Our digital platform invites employees to answer a series of questions about their physical and mental health. Their answers allow us to identify who may be at risk of illness, or other issues, and prevent this from impacting their wellbeing and effectiveness in the workplace.

If the survey flags there is an issue or a potential problem, we'll intervene quickly with a tailored response. Some employees will be fine, others may benefit from structured self-help, and if a virtual consultation with a specialist is needed, we will provide it.

Pricing structure

Verve Proactive is split into two packages: Core and Extended. Core provides the essentials for your employee wellbeing and enables regular health checks for your employees. We provide a range of self-help tools and enabling you to see the health of your employee population. Extended includes everything in the Core package plus the option to fund any clinical interventions your employees may need.

Occupational Health

Different occupations have different physical and emotional demands on an employee. Having the right occupational health support in place ensures employers are provided with recommendations to ensure their employees are supported in both the physical or remote workplace to aid return to work, or reduce absenteeism from a preventable issue.

Through occupational health screening and interventions, employees have reassurance that their health and wellbeing are being considered to keep them safe and productive in their roles.

How can Verve Occupational Health help you and your employees?

- ✓ Evaluate an individual's health status in relation to a current or new job role
- ✓ Support your high-risk employees with the assistance they need and deserve
- ✓ Reduce workforce sickness and help support return to work
- ✓ Manage early intervention of health issues in your workforce

Our occupational health team takes a personalised approach with tailored services specifically designed for your business needs. Our solutions can be delivered on or off site and can help to reduce risk, improve the health and wellbeing of your employees and boost productivity for your business.. We can provide a range of solutions that suit your strategy, objectives and budget.
